The Dominican Republic: an Introduction

The Dominican Republic is a study in contrasts. It is a third world country rich in history, struggling to find its place in the fast paced, high-tech twentieth century. The ease with which Americans may enter the D.R. may obscure the fact that this country is vastly different from the United States in history, customs and standards. Since your ministry trip will bring you in direct contact with the Dominican nationals in far different circumstances than if you were traveling as a tourist, it will be helpful to have some background regarding the Dominican Republic. When you know the history of a country, and what the people have been through to get to where they are now, it helps you to understand, and love the people.

An Introduction

Snapshot

Population: There are 7.8 million people in the Dominican Republic. Seventy percent of the population is mulatto, while Haitian and Spanish peoples form the largest minority groups in the country. About 70,000 U.S. citizens live in the Dominican Republic.

Land Area: Covering 18,703 square miles, the Dominican Republic is approximately the size of Vermont and New Hampshire combined.

Major cities: Santo Domingo is the capital with a population of 2.7 million. Santiago de Los Caballeros is the second largest city with 1 million residents. Fifty-two percent of the country's population live in towns of more than 10,000 people.

Languages: Spanish is the official language.

Location: Bounded by the Atlantic Ocean on the north and the Caribbean Sea on the south, the Dominican Republic occupies the eastern two-thirds of the island of Hispaniola. The West Indies republic shares a common border with Haiti that runs for 193 miles on the D.R.'s western boundary. Located between Puerto Rico and Cuba, the country has a coastline of more than 1,000 miles and many islands lie along its shores.

Terrain: Four mountain ranges run almost parallel across the country from east to west. The principal one is the Cordillera Central which crosses the middle of the country. One of the range's peaks, Pico Duarte (3,087 meters or 10,094 feet above sea level) is the highest point in the Caribbean. The Valley of the Cibao, nestled in the upper central part of the country, is considered the Dominican Republic's "food basket" and produces fruits, vegetables and sugar cane.

Climate: Ocean currents and year-round trade winds moderate the tropical heat and the temperature varies little with the seasons. At lower elevations, temperatures range from 60 to 90 degrees while it is slightly cooler at higher altitudes. The rainy season lasts from May to October with an average annual rainfall of 55 to 60 inches.

Government: A representative democracy with three independent branches of government: the executive, legislative and judicial. Elections for congressional, municipal and presidential offices are held simultaneously every four years. The Supreme Court has nine members appointed by the Senate. Each of the 29 provinces is headed by a presidentially appointed governor.

Religions: All religions are tolerated but 95 percent of the population is Roman Catholic, which is the state religion.

Industry: With an agriculturally based economy, the most important export crops are sugar, cacao and coffee. The principal industrial activity is processing agriculture products. Tourism is also a leading source of income in the D.R.

History

Christopher Columbus landed on the island of Quisqueya, as the original Indians called their island, on December 6, 1492. The Spaniards virtually wiped out the Indian inhabitants, and made the island the first seat of their New World Empire.

Dominican history is a story of conquests by such countries as: Spain (three times), France (twice), Haiti (twice), and the United States (twice). From 1916-24, the country was under the administration of the U.S. to help collect custom fees for the payment of the national debt. Marines were sent to the D.R. in 1965 to maintain order, protect U.S. citizens there and to keep communists from taking over the country. In 1874, the U.S. almost accepted an offer to annex the country. Four periods of national independence have been known, the most recent beginning in 1924.

Santo Domingo, the capital city, has the distinction of being the first city in the Western Hemisphere founded by Europeans. To put this city in proper historical perspective, consider that Santo Domingo was already 75 years old when William Shakespeare was born. When the Mayflower landed on Plymouth Rock, Santo Domingo was well into its second century. Harvard University was founded a full 100 years after Santo Domingo's University which was the first to be chartered in the Western Hemisphere. Today, Santo Domingo is a thriving metropolis, larger than all but three cities of the U.S. It possesses most of the advantages of a large metropolis, and more than a few disadvantages of urbanization.

The capital city has been pillaged by the likes of Sir Frances Drake. The entire nation was held under the thumb of the cruel dictatorship of Rafael Trujillo for some thirty years. His reign ended in 1961 when he was assassinated.

People

The population is a mixture of European, African, Middle Eastern, and North American people. Their influence has combined to produce a unique society and people. Some descendants of ex-slaves from the United States live near Samana in the northeast. A small group of European Jews settled near Puerto Plata in the north about 1940. Dominicans love music that mixes that rhythmic pounding of the African drums with the rattle of the Spanish maracas. Dominicans enjoy dancing the merengue, the national dance. Most Dominicans are Roman Catholics. Thus, they have a reverence for the Word of God, and are generally open to the gospel.

Many Dominicans lead a simple, rustic life in remote, often barely accessible countryside (campo). Agriculture is the source of livelihood for those who live in the campo. Many farmers live in small thatched roof huts with cement floors which are being slowly replaced by small cinder brick houses built by the government.

An Introduction

"People" ...continued

Most city dwellers earn a living as factory workers, government employees, or office workers. Many live in Spanish-style apartment buildings. Dominicans dress much the same as people in the United States with the drastic exception that Dominicans generally are more formal in their dress. For example, Dominican men in the city seldom would go to public places in shorts. Wearing shorts would indicate a poorer person, or an uneducated person.

The contrast between the rich and the poor is striking. Extreme poverty and great wealth can often be seen within the same neighborhoods. Although a middle class is rapidly rising, the "haves and have nots" are clearly visible. The poverty may come as a shock to most first-time visitors, but it is never appropriate to show negative attitudes toward the people, or their living conditions for any reason! The nationals are to be loved, respected, and accepted as equals. There are no second-class human beings!

More than 1 million Dominicans live in the U.S.; some 600,000 live in New York City alone. This means that every 10th citizen of the D.R. is Dominican-American with strong attachments to both countries. Therefore, you will find many nationals speaking English or wanting to learn English. Americans are well-liked, and the American culture is not totally "foreign."

There is little crime of the random, violent type that plagues other tropical vacation spots. Felonies of preference are burglary and auto theft. The many armed guards stationed before businesses, homes and construction sites may give the impression of an armed camp. The security consciousness may be the reason that the per capita crime rate is one of the lowest in the world.

The Dominicans are some of the most loving and gracious people you will ever meet. At first they may appear aloof, but they are simply checking you out. A smile is sure to break down any walls. The welcome they give a first-time visitor is touching, and can be overpowering. Their demonstrative cordiality will often take the reserved types aback, and may take some getting used to, but its sincerity should not be doubted.

A general rule is: be courteous to everyone -- at all times -- under all circumstances. It is an offense to the Dominican people to ignore them or leave the impression that we are better than them. Unfortunately, the "ugly American" image has left its imprint because of the thoughtlessness, and false pride of many American tourists. We must strive to erase this error by exhibiting genuine, and loving respect for them.

One way to achieve this is to shake hands with everyone. In the D.R., a handshake is one of the most common forms of a friendly greeting. Be prepared to shake many hands, even with the children. Yes, especially the children! And-----SMILE!

Rx for Culture Shock:

"Be in the know"

There is one disease you may encounter for which there is no vaccination--Culture Shock. Simply put, culture shock is the feeling of helplessness one experiences when they feel that all the rules of the game of life have been changed, and no one has given you the new rules. This disease can express itself in feelings of extreme discomfort, often accompanied by hyper-irritability, bitterness, resentment, homesickness, and depression.

There are positive steps you can take to minimize the impact of culture shock. Part 2 will explain some of the things that you should know about the Dominican Republic in order to reduce any unnecessary culture shock.

Rx for Culture Shock

Culture Shock

There are positive steps you can take to minimize the impact of culture shock. The following is the Rx for culture shock:

1. Know your host country. One of the best antidotes is knowing as much as possible about where you are. This is the purpose behind this packet of information.

2. Look for logical reasons behind everything in the host culture that seems strange, difficult, confusing or threatening. Even if your "reason" is wrong, it will reinforce the fact that there is a logical explanation behind the things that you observe in the host culture. Relax your grip on your own culture a little. There is no way that you can lose it (any more than you could forget to speak English), but letting go a bit may open up some unexpected avenues of understanding.

3. Don't succumb to the temptation to disparage the host culture. Resist making jokes and comments ("Well, what else would you expect from these people?") which are intended to illustrate the stupidity of the "natives." Commiserating with people who make such comments will only reinforce your unhappiness.

4. Above all, have faith in God who brought you here to use you for His glory, and the furtherance of His Kingdom. Believe in God, in the essential good will of your hosts, and in the positive outcome of the experience.

Mosquitos

The D.R. is a haven for very hungry mosquitos. These little pests show a marked preference for visitors. They are especially numerous in June, July and August. Whatever time of the year you come, don't forget your mosquito repellent. These pests will be anxious to greet you. Malaria, however, is not a problem in this country.

Food and Drink in the Dominican Republic

Food requirements for your visit will be different than those in the United States. Although food will be purchased in the D.R., it will be carefully supervised. The following "food rules" must be rigidly observed:

1. All food will either be supplied directly, or approved by the missionary.

Do not eat fresh vegetables or fruit unless approved by the director. Exceptions: If you can peel it, and throw away the peel, you can eat it. This includes bananas, citrus fruits, etc. Do not buy "cut" fruit from stands, even if the peel is still on it. When in doubt, ask.

2. Soft drinks with familiar United States trade names, such as Coca-Cola, Pepsi, 7-up, etc. may be consumed if these soft drinks are provided in bottles or cans.

Important: Wipe the top of bottled drinks dry before drinking. See "Safe Water" section.

3. Dairy products, including ice cream, must be approved by the directors--no exceptions. Milk may be available as part of our daily meals, and may be consumed as part of those meals when eating with the entire group.

Note: It may be very hot, and you might be tempted to buy just one little slushy or snow cone. Don't do it! You can get a serious case of diarrhea by consuming contaminated frozen refreshments.

Safe Water

All water in the DR, except certified purified bottle water, is contaminated with microscopic organisms call "amoebae." Their presence in your body will cause severe diarrhea. Some nationals can drink this water without adverse effects because their bodies have developed immunity to the amoebae. Visitors to the country have no such protection, and very serious problems can develop. There is absolutely no danger for those who obey some simple rules.

The following rules will help you:

1. The only water you may drink is certified, purified water provided by the missionary.
2. Do not use any ice unless it has been approved. Freezing does not kill amoebae.
3. Do not use "tap water" for brushing your teeth, or for taking medications.
4. When showering, avoid getting water in your mouth.

Adventure upon Arrival

When Neil Armstrong landed on the moon, he was probably a little nervous. But, at the same time he knew that he was about to have the greatest adventure of his lifetime. Your new frontier isn't exactly the moon, but it may probably seem just as alien to you. You may also be a little nervous about your landing in the Dominican Republic. Don't worry, just like Neil, you are about to embark on a great adventure!

Important Travel Information

Register with National Assemblies of God MAPS or AIM office: In order to receive world missions giving credit, the church must register their trip with headquarters in Springfield, Missouri by calling (417) 862-2781. This process involves filling out liability waiver, and proof of insurance forms. Insurance may be purchased for the trip through headquarters.

Required Documents: U.S. Passport and tourist card required. Tourist card, valid 60 days, available from the U.S. Consulate, or from the airline serving the country. It will save you time coming through immigration if you can purchase your tourist card at the gate, prior to arrival in Santo Domingo. The fee is $10. Vaccination certificate not required.

Weather and Clothing: Lightweight clothing suitable for hot, humid weather is appropriate year round.

Telephone: When dialing to the Dominican Republic from the U.S., dial 1 + 809 + local number.

Time: The D.R. is in the Atlantic Time Zone. However, during daylight savings time in the US, Dominican time is the same as Eastern Time Zone due to the fact that the D.R. does not participate in it.

Electric Current: 110V, 60-Cycles, AC. Power outages are common.

Travel tips

What you can bring back from the DR

Each visitor in the DR may bring back to the United States duty-free articles not exceeding $400.00 in retail value. It is important to keep all receipts and sales slips of items purchased in the DR.

What you cannot bring back from the DR

The United States Department of Agriculture quarantine bans the importation of certain plants, fruits, or vegetables. In addition, no birds or other animals, dead or alive.

Your tourist card: Do not lose it! You need the tourist card to leave the country. If lost, you'll pay another $10.

Suggestions: Use small containers for toiletries. Pack clothes you can leave; someone here in the D.R. will be glad to wear them, and you'll have a lighter bag for souvenirs.

Team limit on baggage: Due to the space factor in transportation, please limit your personal luggage to 50 lb. That is one medium sized suitcase, and one carry on bag.

Helping the missionaries

Bring items into the country:

The most effective way for missionaries to order items from the United States, and receive them, is through ministry teams. Items bought in the U.S. and brought in, can save the missionaries 50% to 100% of their costs. Teams that bring in items help in three ways: 1. Items purchased at a better price in the US, or items purchased that are not sold in the DR. 2. Mailing costs of the items are extremely high, and teams help save these costs. 3. The customs at the airport give more liberty to items carried in than the customs at the ports, or the post office. Generally, the missionaries will ask for, or need two kinds of items: work and personal. Some items are sent to you in boxes, and at other times you will be asked to purchase items.

The work items may be office supplies, hard to find parts for equipment, ministry equipment (lights, cords, etc.) or ministry books (curriculum, text books, etc.). The missionary may ask the group leader to buy the items and bring them with the group. The missionary will reimburse the cost of the items when the group arrives, unless other plans have been made.

The personal items may be: toiletries (such as shampoo, conditioner, hair spray, etc.), hard to buy food items such as packets of salad dressing mix, taco mix, burrito mix, peanut butter, chocolate chips (large packages or container), or cold medicine, vitamins, etc. Contact could be made with the individual missionary to see what their particular needs may be.

The Airport Adventure

If possible, arrange for a group check-in. Have the suitcases identified as a team (a colored ribbon). You will be responsible for advancing the suitcase to the front of the line where it will be tagged. The director will obtain all boarding passes and distribute them to you if it is a group check-in. Have all your documents ready (in hand). The director may choose to collect all documents (passports, etc.).

Generally, the airlines allow two check-in bags and one carry on. If you desire help with your luggage, there will be baggage handlers, both in your home airport and in Santo Domingo. Expect to pay something (tip) if you need their help. BE ADVISED: The baggage handlers are very aggressive in Santo Domingo!!! You'll have to be aggressive with them if you do not want help. An acceptable tip in Santo Domingo would be between $1.00 or $2.00 per bag. You may also use the luggage carts available near the luggage carousel and use those to transport your bags all the way out to the parking lot.

Adventure upon Arrival

When you arrive in Santo Domingo, you'll first go through Immigration (with your tourist card). You'll then gather your luggage. Get organized (as a team), and be ready to clear customs at one time. Customs may ask you to open one, or more suitcases. To clear customs easily, the best strategy is:

1. Clear customs as a team, not individually.
2. Go through the line marked "Tourist."
3. Carry any item that may draw attention, i.e. electronic items, etc., in your carry on bag, not your suitcase.
4. If you are bringing in an item for one of the missionaries that you purchased new, do not leave the item in its original packaging. Custom taxes can run as high as 150% of the original cost of the item. Wrap the item in soft towels, etc. and pack it in a large suitcase, or duffel bag, if possible.

"Don't worry you can speak English. They will understand ya."

* Note: Customs area is limited to incoming passengers. You'll need to clear customs on your own.

When you've cleared customs, you will be directed through a door and walkway where you will see various car rental desks, leading to the outside waiting area. If you do not see the missionary, the meeting spot is at Pizzarelli. This is located to the right of the exit.

Set an Example

"Don't let anyone look down on you because you are young, but set an example for the believers, in speech, in life, in love, in faith, and in purity." J Timothy 4: 12

Dominicans will be taking careful note of the attitudes among the team. You will be on "dress parade" throughout the ministry trip. All team members must accept the responsibility for their own Christian conduct at all times. Something to remember: You represent the Lord Jesus Christ, as well as the Assemblies of God. You are the Lord's witness in action, as well as in message. Remember, you only have one opportunity to make a first impression!

In this section...

- ✿ Conduct
- ✿ Rules for the Road
- ✿ Dress Code

Set an Example

Conduct

Some points regarding conduct:

A. There will be no alcoholic beverages consumed by any team member.

B. There will be no smoking permitted at any time.

C. Dominicans generally have high respect for those in authority. They will be disappointed if they observe anyone in the group showing disrespect to those in charge.

D. Public displays of romantic affection is prohibited at any time between members of the team. This includes during the ministry, as well as during the shopping, or the recreation time. There will be no coupling off by unmarried couples.

E. The guidelines governing display of romantic affection also applies to the Dominican nationals who are working with us.

F. It is important to be in groups of two or three when away from the team. No one should be on the streets alone. Furthermore, girls should have a male accompanying them.

Rules For The Road

If you get separated from the group for whatever reason, communication is the key to safety. Have a contact person at home who has the missionaries' telephone numbers. Stay where you are until the missionaries, or team leaders, and the home contact person know where you are!!!! Carry the phone numbers with you at all times.

1. Weariness can produce unpleasant attitudes such as irritability, bad tempers, and impatience. This makes the trip unpleasant for others. Don't let your feelings dominate you.

2. Luggage responsibility: Each person is responsible for their own luggage. Don't expect someone else to handle yours. If it's too heavy for you to carry comfortably, don't bring it! There is a limit on how much luggage you can bring! The limit is one medium bag and one small hand bag.

3. Personal items: Everyone will be responsible for their own possessions. Do not expect someone else to 'look after' your things. Be aware of theft, especially in public places that are crowded (such as shopping).

4. List your address on your tourist visa as: Instituto Bíblico Central de las Asambleas de Dios, Km 12 1/2 Autopista Duarte, Santo Domingo, Tel. 560-1952

Dress Code
and some things you should bring

Lightweight, wash-and-wear clothing (cotton and cotton-blends) are recommended. The Caribbean sun is very strong. You may want to bring a hat to protect your head from the sun, if you are sun sensitive.

A different standard for dress exists for the Dominican Christians than for Christians in the U.S. Since you are here to work with the national church, please respect their standards. You will want to relate to the Christian community, so dress conservatively.

Ladies:

During ministry times conservative skirts and blouses will be worn. During ministry times, no pants, shorts, sleeveless sundresses or blouses, where shoulders show, are to be worn. Jewelry should be small and inconspicuous. Makeup must be natural looking. Bring beach/play outfits for free times (long Bermuda shorts or pants).

If you are on a construction team, please dress as conservatively as possible. Ministry times guidelines apply during ministry. Pants or shorts may be worn on site after consulting with the team leader or missionary. Some areas of the country are extremely sensitive and breaking the culturally expectations can cause problems and resentment. When in doubt, please ask. It is also a good rule to bring a slip-on pair of shower shoes.

Men:

Same rules as above apply. OK, OK...you can wear pants! No earrings or necklaces. Extreme hair styles are not acceptable. Long pants must be worn during ministry times. Bring a shirt with a collar for Sunday services. Whoever is preaching should bring a tie and jacket. Bring beach/play outfits for free times. It is also a good rule to bring a slip-on pair of shower shoes.

Note: Tattoos and body piercings are not common in the Dominican culture, and can be offensive in some situations. Plan to remove any body piercings, and if possible cover tattoos. (Tattoos do not need to be covered while on the construction site)

The electrical current is the same as in the U.S., but the Dominican light company is notorious for having blackouts for undetermined amounts of time. Some places you will be staying in are equipped with electric generators, but some places do not have that equipment. To deal with this problem, you may want to bring battery, or butane devices (such as hair iron, flashlights, etc.)

Show me the Money

Many of you have worked hard to raise the dough needed to minister on our island. It takes a lot of money to make your trip successful. Therefore, we want to make sure that we are good stewards of the money that God has provided to make your trip possible. In the following pages, we will discuss some guidelines to be financially prepared.

- 🌴 Costs*
- 🌴 Advance Funds Needed*
- 🌴 Personal Money Exchange*
- 🌴 Shopping Guide*

Show me the Money

Costs

There are many factors that can effect the price, but typically the cost for lodging, meals, and ground transportation can range from $65/day to $80/day (depending on what part of the country you are in). The size, and the expectations of the group will determine the price.

Besides the airfare, you will also need to budget $10.00 for the tourist card.

Advance Funds Needed

Team funds, and ministry offering may be sent to the missionary bank account. Exchanging US$ to pesos takes time, and advance funds are needed for deposits on hotels, bus contracts, etc. Funds should be sent to us ahead of time. Please contact us to get bank address, and account number information.

Personal money exchanged

Exchanging money takes time, and is often difficult. No money should be exchanged on the streets!! It is dangerous. Money can be exchanged at the airport upon arrival and sometimes at the hotel. Team funds (personal) can also be exchanged with the missionary in charge of the team. The team should appoint a team treasurer to handle the exchange of personal funds, and make only one exchange. Keep all documents of monies exchanged with the bank (hotel) in order to exchange funds back from pesos to dollars (there is a limit). If you exchange with the missionary, an agreement needs to be made as to exchanging the funds back from pesos to dollars.

Shopping Guide

When shopping in an open market, the price is not set, and some of the fun is negotiating the price. A rule of thumb is whatever price the vendor first gives you, you will probably be able to buy for 40% of that price. Find an item you want to buy, negotiate the price, then walk away if you are not satisfied with that price. You may want to find an identical item with another vendor and negotiate with them. If the price is the same after negotiating with two or three vendors, chances are you have reached the lowest price for the item.

Some items to look for:

☞ Ambar, petrified tree sap made famous in the movie, “Jurassic Park”. It is a light golden jewel that is more valuable if the sap has captured an insect in it. Beware of resin imitations when buying Ambar.

☞ Larimar, a blue colored stone mined in Barahona. You will find beautiful jewelry with larimar.

☞ Paintings: The paintings with very bright colors and scenes reminiscent of African Art is probably painted by a Haitian immigrant. The less active paintings, with one central theme, are probably from the Dominican Republic. They capture country scenes, the historic cities, as well as their people and culture.

☞ Machete knives can be purchased in the open market. They come with wood or resin handles on non-decorative working machete knives. The sheath is leather carved with artwork.

☞ Porcelain plates or casitas (little houses). The Taino Indians once lived here, and left part of their culture in art form. Their art is depicted in clay-baked plates. In addition, there are casitas made of clay that hang on the wall styled after the Spanish colonial period

☞ Lime (pronounced “lee-may”) doll. There are two varieties: clay, and also a cornstarch resin material known as porcelana. The original doll is faceless; depicting the inability of the artist to capture the multi-racial population with one type of face.

Medical and Emergency Phone Information

Medical Information:

1. All team members must be in good health. Those who are taking prescription medications, or are otherwise under the care of a physician, must have written authorization from their physician, and must consult with the group leader of the team.
2. Vaccination: Vaccinations for typhoid and malaria are not required in the DR. However, it is advisable to consult your physician. A tetanus shot, or booster shot is suggested to minimize infection dangers.

Debriefing

A major priority of AIM and MAPS is to give you the opportunity to learn about other cultures and meet other people. You have been involved in a church that expresses their Christian life according to their culture. Perhaps you noticed a few differences...

To encourage you to think about these differences and similarities, and to help you understand your own cross-cultural experience, here are a few questions for you to answer.

1. If you lived in a slum area like you have seen here, how would you earn money and live?
2. When you were in a city, what impressed you most about the people? In a rural setting? What did you like about the city/country? What was different than the U.S.?
3. As you traveled through the Dominican Republic, what were some of the prominent land marks you noticed?
4. Was there a difference between the schools in the U.S. and the Latin America ChildCare schools you visited? (or the public schools you saw or visited?)
5. As you visited the church, what do you think was most important to the people that you met?
6. How do the churches of the Dominican Republic compare to the churches in the U.S.? Worship? Preaching? Fellowship? Attitude?

9. What source of information did you use to prepare for your visit to Dominican Republic? Would you prepare if you came again?

10. What was the most important thing that you learned while in Dominican Republic? About others...yourself...and the ministry?

11. When you get home, all your friends are going to want to know what it was like in Dominican Republic. What are you going to tell them?

12. Was the Dominican Republic different than you expected? ·In what ways? ·How?

13. If you were a full-time missionary, what do you think your work would be?

What does a missionary do?
